

Voltage Recorder

record gates into clocked buffer

Clock input to drive the internal sequencer if record button is pushed the input value

is recorded for this step you can chain recorders with CVs

then you can change sequence

Step number and the output

you still need a clock once recorded but you can change input source to get jumbled stuff

try square osc as clock and audio as input too